

AIR SERVICES

Vertex's breathing air trailers offer mobile emergency supply air and respiratory protection for a variety of industrial applications including hazardous material handling, petrochemical and confined space operations. Performing a critical safety operation, our dedicated and professional Air Hands are capable of maintaining our air trailers as well as your existing breathing air equipment to ensure your workers are protected from toxic atmospheres.

Where required, our personnel are cross trained in rescue services such as high angle and confined space as well as versed in safety management system requirements of our individual clients.
