Vertex provides a variety of exchanger cleaning options including the Bundle Blaster, a safe and effective self-contained unit resulting in reduced costs and minimized downtime during turnarounds. This unit performs tube side exchanger cleaning to ensure bundles are thoroughly cleaned with a built in cabin to allow for safer and more effective operations.

Our industrial cleaning professionals clear residue and deposits from equipment to improve their overall performance. These residual debris are contained within the unit, making clean up easier and more efficient while reducing the risk of potential environmental contamination.
