We understand the sensitivities to projects conducted in your local communities. We know and respect the importance of your project time lines, cost and success. So when you require public or private land for the development of infrastructure you can rely on Vertex to navigate the landscape and negotiate with all stakeholders.

Our team of land professionals have extensive experience managing transparent and honest public consultations. With an ear towards hearing and understanding constructive feedback, Vertex can provide clients with insight and route placement strategies that have the least impact on stakeholders.
